Journalism Experience

Please provide details about what you consider your most important professional experience in journalism. And please explain why you have chosen that experience.

This should not be a blow-by-blow account of what you did, but more of a wider reflection on how this experience informed your own practice OR fired your interest in the specific area of journalism that explains your inward trajectory towards, and application for, your chosen Mundus specialisation.

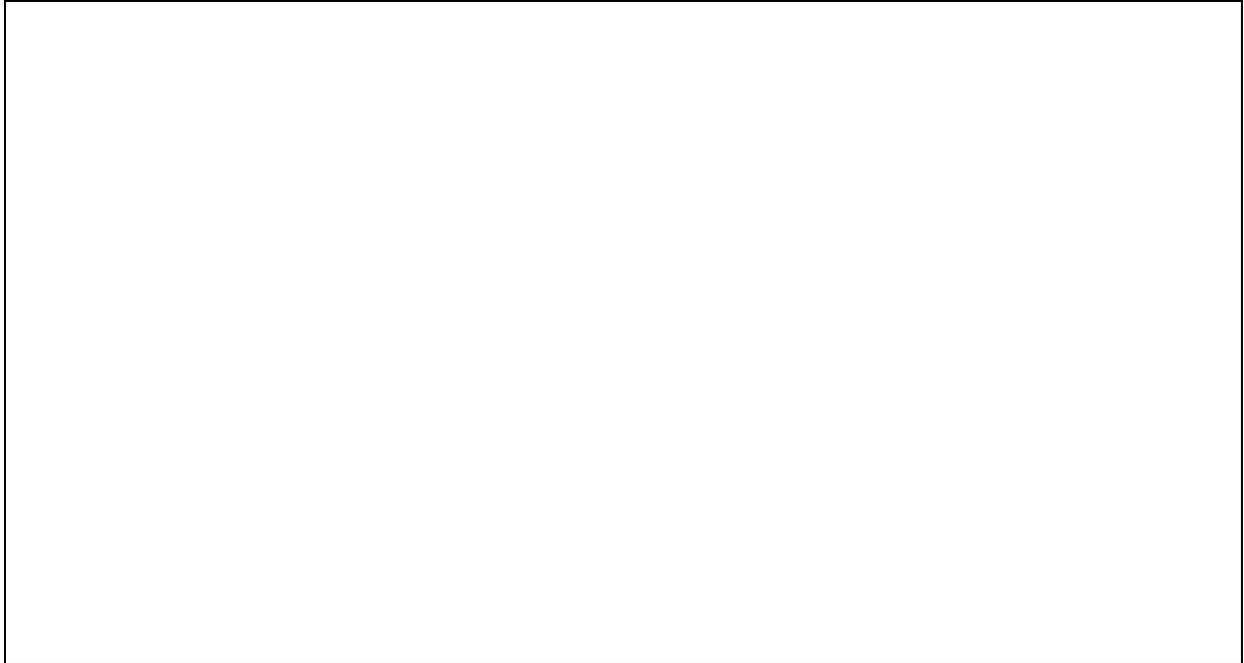

(Character-limit: 1250 including spaces)

Application Reflections

In order to learn more about you as a candidate, we would like you to answer the following questions. Though short, your answers will be evaluated not only on their content, but also on their writing style, quality, and coherence. Please be sure to clearly answer all four questions in your application.

1. Regarding your choice of second-year specialisation (either Politics & Communication in Amsterdam, Totalitarianism & Transition in Prague, Business & Innovation in London, Cultures & Contexts in Munich) please explain why you have chosen to apply for a place in this particular specialization. (Character-limit 1250 including spaces)

2. How has your academic past prepared you for this specialisation? (Character-limit 1250 including spaces)

3. What do you hope to do in your future career, and how, concretely, do you think the programme as a whole, and your choice of specialisation in particular, will help you achieve that goal? (Character-limit 1250 including spaces)

4. Below are a few questions about the role and future of journalism and media in society. Please address one of the statements in a short essay, in which you take a clear position and argue in support of it.

(Character-limit 1800 including spaces)

- a. What should be the most important function of journalism in your country? Please back up your reflections with developments in your country.
- b. What is the biggest threat to journalism in your country?
- c. How is technology changing the role of journalists in your country?
- d. What role should journalists and media professionals play in contemporary global issues, such as the global economic crisis, climate change, global public health crises, or the international refugee crisis? Please choose (only) one global issue to discuss.
